

Favorite Cleveland Brunch Spots

Spice Kitchen & Bar

Excellent brunch, focused on seasonal local ingredients and decor that reflects the season!

~Rachel

Pier W

For an indulgence, you can't beat Pier W. The bountiful buffet is as delicious as it is beautiful. A special place for special celebrations and incredible views!

~Michael

Grumpy's

Grumpy's - bring your own champagne ... a crucial part of making brunch, brunch!

~Nicole

Borderline Cafe

Borderline Cafe in Lakewood has some of the best southwest inspired breakfast food around! Always a line, but always worth the wait.

~Nick

Beachland Ballroom

Beachland Ballroom - there is great food and a different DJ each week spinning vinyl.

~Evie

Astoria Café & Market

Astoria Café & Market: From the croque madame to the souvlaki & eggs, everything on the menu is amazing.

~Andrew

Fire Food & Drink

What could be better than Fire? Great setting, locally sourced food creatively prepared, and fun people watching at Shaker Square!

~Marianne

Countryside Farmers' Market

Springtime celebrations are best with a trip to Countryside's Farmer's Market in Cuyahoga Valley National Park (Howe Meadow) to buy fresh, local food to cook.

~Bob

Sweet Melissa

Their crispy red skin potatoes are to die for!

~Michelle

Heck's Cafe

It's obvious that Heck's uses fresh, local ingredients as their brunch is amazing! In fact, all their food is delicious! My absolute favorite is the Rocky River burger.

~Kim

Lucky's Cafe

Lucky's Cafe in Tremont is worth fighting the crowds, especially for a garden patio seat!

~Maeve

Flour Restaurant

My favorite springtime celebration includes brunch at Flour Restaurant, then a stroll along the river in Chagrin Falls to see the trees in bloom.

~Becky

North Union Farmer's Market

On Saturday's, I visit North Union Farmer's Market at Shaker Square Market for Tea Tree Hill Farms poultry and farm-fresh eggs for a homemade Sunday brunch.

~Lenora

100th Bomb Group Restaurant

The squad has the best spread for brunch with an amazing view of planes landing/taking off from Hopkins.

~Christian

How We See CLE

A monthly series showcasing the unique perspective and knowledge of the Cleveland Leadership Center staff.